EUCIC local module for Infection Prevention and Control Infection Control, Antimicrobial and Diagnostic Stewardship in the Emergency Room: Simulation to enhance practice

Organisers

European Committee on Infection Control (EUCIC)
of the European Society of Clinical Microbiology and Infectious Diseases

Module Coordinators

Carlos Palos, Lisbon, Portugal
Alejandro Martín-Quirós, Madrid, Spain

Module objectives

The main objective of this module of the EUCIC Infection Prevention and Control Certificate, Infection Control, Antimicrobial and Diagnostic Stewardship in the Emergency Room: Simulation to enhance practice, is to give a contribution to patient quality and safety through the adoption of good practices, integrating simulation as a main component.

Typically, ERs are the first place for decisions and procedures, including the screening and isolation of patients, good practices on invasive procedures, appropriate diagnosis of infections and antimicrobial prescription.

This module is mainly dedicated to healthcare physicians, nurses and pharmacists working in the ER setting, as well to the teams in charge of infection, prevention and control and antimicrobial stewardship.

We welcome you for two challenging days in Lisbon, the southwestern capital city of Europe.
