Module Objectives

With the increasing complexity and invasiveness of health care procedures, executed in non-classical scenarios, along with a population with more demanding needs, patient safety is an unavoidable and indispensable aspect in the current reality. In this regard, health professionals, who are key players in health care delivery, must be prepared to risk prevention and control, through their identification, communication and management. This course aims to provide tools to health professionals in this area. We are waiting for you in Matosinhos!
